Suit has been brought by the city of Montpelier against the town of Worcester to recover about $50 for the support of Mrs. Emma Pratt, a pauper. Mrs. Pratt had not lived with her husband for some time and finally secured a divorce from him, but according to an act passed by the Legislature of 1906 the city of Montpelier claimed that Mrs. Pratt's residence is where her husband lived. The case is returnable at the September term of Washington county court and will be in the nature of a test case. Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Justin L. Hatchelder for the wedding of Miss Anna Guernsey to Charles Carroll Porter, which is to occur at Christ Church at four o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, August 12. The uncollected taxes for this year were placed in the hands of the city sheriff Saturday morning, and taxpayers can now square themselves with the city only by paying additional costs. The amount that went into the hands of the sheriff was several hundred dollars larger than it has been in some years, but this was due to thoughtlessness. Twenty or more who have lists of $25 or over let the time go by because they had forgotten the notice that had been sent them. The number of poll taxes unpaid is remarkably small. The socialists of the State who held a State convention at Barre several weeks ago and nominated a State ticket did not manage to lose their place on the official ballot. The leaders of the party got busy just before the office of the secretary of state was closed the last day when nominations could be filed and presented to the secretary a petition containing the names of over 800 voters, which is more than the necessary one per cent, and entitles them to a representation on the official ballot in September. J. H. Dunbar of Hartland will head this ticket as nominee for governor.

During the past year this company has increased its surplus $11,767, and its premium notes have increased its surplus $17,000. The directors have voted a 4 per cent assessment which will pay all losses and leave a good surplus. During the year this company has paid in 104 class books, 211 juvenile and 847 fiction. It now has insurance in force of $24,364,492.37.

The commitments to Washington county jail in July totaled 24, of which 23 were for intoxication. Last year in the month of July, Barre city court committed 22 intoxication cases to jail, while this year there was only one from that court.

His arm was so swollen that it was impossible Monday to reduce the fracture.

Work was commenced Monday by Donnell & Millard of Burlington excavating for the dam at Kinney's Mills which they are to build for the Barre & Montpelier Traction & Power company. Henry Rhoades of Middlesex, who has been in jail charged with furnishing intoxicating liquor to Mrs. Anna Mead of that town was acquitted yesterday afternoon in city court and discharged from custody. The evidence introduced by the State did not warrant the court in holding the respondent.

The charges of Martin Wheeler of Worcester, who it was feared Tuesday night he committed suicide, turned out to be those who know him best expected it would. Mr. Wheeler returned to his home Tuesday evening and appeared entirely unconcerned because parties had been searching for him or for his lifeless body during the day.

The general store of S. C. Kellogg in Middlesex village was burglarized some time Tuesday night and goods valued at $25 were taken. Cigars and tobacco formed the principal part of the plunder. About 75 cents in pennies in the money drawer were also taken. There is no clue to the thief.

A very few towns in the State are still holding up the schedules of the grand list which should have been compiled and sent out long ago from the office of the secretary of state. The statements from these towns were sent in such an incomplete condition that Deputy Slayton was obliged to send them back for correction, and since they were sent, nothing has been heard from them.

No one in Highgate made application for a license although legally entitled to it. A fifth class, or druggists' license, was refused C. L. O'Leary in St. Albans city and the same treatment was accorded E. W. Mitchell in Richmond.

Gypsies who were speeded on their way out of Chester by the town authorities rather got the better of a farmer while there. He had a field of oats mowed and they asked how much he would take for what they could carry in their arms. He told them $5 and then they turned to and with ropes lugged off about a ton.

Anxiety in Pittsford for the safety of Consul and Mrs. Frank C. Denison, who left there a short time ago for Fernie, B. C., has been allayed by a telegram from Mr. Denison saying that he and his wife passed through the great fire unharmed although losing everything they owned with them. They were in camp at Cranbrook when the message was sent. Mr. Denison had been sent by the United States government to Fernie to establish a consulate.

The Rev. Luther M. Kenston, for nearly eight years pastor of the Congregational Church in West Brattleboro, has tendered his resignation asking that it be accepted so that he can leave September 1 to begin work with the First Congregational Church in Baldwinville, Mass. The officials of the Rutland county fair and Rutland Horse Show associations are rebuilding the grandstand recently burned. A model, up-to-date stand 300 by 40 feet will be built on the old location, far enough back from the track to leave plenty of room for a paddock in front of the grandstand bleachers. The new grandstand will be a great improvement on the old one, all the seats having backs and in portion of them being reserved. There will be two entrances from the rear and exits at each end. It will be one of the best stands in New England.

In trying to round up a gang of tramps, officers at Brattleboro cornered Charles Clark of White River Junction and he was arraigned on the charge of vagrancy. He convinced the court that he was a sick man and bystanders took compassion of his being penniless. A dollar in small coin was tossed him and he was told to "dig" and that quickly. He had pleaded guilty to trespass on the Central Vermont railway and sentence was suspended pending his departure for parts unknown.

The Vermont Domestic Missionary society has set aside a sum of money to awaken interest in this State to the need of increasing the salaries of Congregational ministers up to a minimum of $100 and parsonage. To churches receiving a missionary grant from the society, a percentage ranging from 25 to 50 per cent is offered according to conditions. This is equivalent to churches receiving the larger amount to a dollar from the society for every dollar extra raised by the church. The same offer is made to churches not receiving missionary grants. No evidence is shown that the standard of living of the church members is as high as that required of the mission churches.

A Brattleboro man who is prominent in politics and in other ways throughout the State is reported in a special to the Rutland Herald as saying that the greatest "bait hunt" Vermont ever knew is in progress to send to the Legislature senators and representatives favorable to the election of Jay Fletcher, D. Proctor to the United States Senate. "This is not a delusion, but a fact," he says, "and unmistakable evidence of it has come to me in this town (Brattleboro) and other towns where I have been." Judge R. W. Gibson of Brattleboro, a member of the governor's staff and a senatorial nominee, brands the statement as a campaign fabrication and adds that he will support ex-Gov. Page "unless the present situation changes."

Harry St. Cyr, whose arrest on a charge of stealing $18 from Louis Gooding, aroused popular interest because of a long list of burglaries in Brattleboro and vicinity, and who fainted at the close of his hearing Saturday night, appeared in the municipal court there Monday afternoon to hear the judgment of the court. He fainted again when Judge E. W. Gibson pronounced him guilty and was carried from the room. The court imposed a fine of $10 and costs and an appeal was taken. A county court, William H. Vinton, in whose mill St. Cyr had after eluding the officers Thursday night, becoming surety for the young man's bail in the sum of $300, whereupon St. Cyr was released. SPRING GROVE MEETING.

Noted Speakers, August 16 to 24, Will include, Bishop Anderson.

The 4th annual session of the Burlington district camp meeting will be held at Spring Grove, New Haven, August 16-21, 1908, in charge of the Rev. P. L. Dow, L. S., of Rutland.

The character of the meetings at Spring Grove, the strong, influential laymen and preachers connected with them, and the spiritual blessings that have come to those who have attended, have caused this camp meeting to become one of the best and most favorably known in this section.

This year's meeting promises to be one of unusual interest and profit. The old tent, under which the congregations have assembled from year to year, has been replaced with a permanent auditorium erected this summer at a large expense. This new and commodious edifice will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies Wednesday, August 19. The Rev. Luther Freeman, D. D., of Chattanooga will be the speaker of the morning and Bishop W. F. Anderson will give the address of the afternoon. It is expected that a large number of people will desire to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing these notable men of the church. Arrangements have been made with the Rutland railroad to run extra coaches on trains and to place on sale at all stations, from Rutland to Burlington inclusive, tickets good for that one day only for one-half the regular fare.
